What is the Vision Rehabilitation Section (VRS)?

The VRS is a nationally recognized segment of the American Optometric Association (AOA).

Who are members of VRS?

Eye care professionals and optometry students who are dedicated to diagnosing, evaluating and treating visual impairments of all types; maximizing the use of impaired vision through rehabilitation treatment plans; counseling patients and providing constructive strategies to approach changing needs and circumstances.

What can VRS do for you?

By joining the VRS, we serve you, our member, by providing:

- * Timely clinical education, through our bi-monthly e-newsletter. With our talented board of contributing editors, the newsletter delivers the latest information on new developments and techniques and the latest product information on low vision systems from optical companies
- * Representation with state and national government agencies such as the FDA and FTC.
- * A national referral network, which you can use as a reference to refer and receive patients with other practitioners in the vision rehabilitation field.
